Abstract

Fragmentation; Disjunction and Unity: The Lie of the Land

I will be presenting a Solo Exhibition of my recent works in Suva as part of a larger international tour (USA). These works interrogate a world in which lies have given us a set of metaphysical problems. In a large sense the paintings construct elements of the puzzle with as much interest in the content as with the processes of its construction. The works deal with time, space and surfaces working together yet disrupted. Memories caught in pictorial vignettes of the past play hide and seek with the present and the desire to contest unity whilst at the same time affirming movements towards it.
