
DOI: 10.1128/genomeA.00078-14

This is the published version.

©2014, The Authors

Reproduced by Deakin University under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution Licence

Available from Deakin Research Online:

http://hdl.handle.net/10536/DRO/DU:30091316
Clostridium sp. strain Ade.TY is potentially a new biohydrogen-producing species isolated from landfill leachate sludge. Here we present the assembly and annotation of its genome, which may provide further insights into its gene interactions for efficient biohydrogen production.

