Yes the IEEE Transactions on Human-Machine Systems is peer reviewed.

This journal was not named the “IEEE Transactions on Systems, Man, and Cybernetics Part C: Applications & Reviews”.

Please see <http://ieeexplore.ieee.org/stamp/stamp.jsp?arnumber=6392959>

The IEEE Transactions on Human-Machine Systems has inherited its human-machine systems (HMS) focus from two former SMCS journals:

the IEEE Transactions on Systems, Man, and Cybernetics Part A: Systems and Humans published from 1996 until 2012 and the IEEE Transactions on Systems, Man, and Cybernetics Part C: Applications and Reviews published from 1998 until 2012.

Part A covered Systems Engineering and HMS. Part C was for applied papers and review articles and included applications and reviews from Systems Engineering, HMS as well as cybernetics.

In 2013 Part C was eliminated and Part A was split into the IEEE Transactions on Systems, Man, and Cybernetics: Systems and the IEEE Transactions on Human-Machine Systems.

Hello Ellen

I work at Deakin University and help with the processing of publications. We need to ensure we provide evidence to satisfy government HERDC guidelines and need to know whether the following journal is subjected to peer review especially referring to the following paper below (see attached):

Journal Title: IEEE Transactions on Human-Machine Systems
Paper Title: Recent Advances on Singlemodal and Multimodal Face Recognition: A Survey
Vol/Issue: 44/6
Pages: 701-716
ISSN: 2168-2291

I notice that this journal was previously named “IEEE Transactions on Systems, Man, and Cybernetics Part C: Applications & Reviews”.

Thank you for your assistance.

Regards

Barb Robertson
